Further information regarding unvaccinated or are partially vaccinated children under 12 years of age includes following specific guidelines outlined by the Canadian government, including avoiding team sports for up to 14 days.

For youth aged 12 to 17 years age who are also unvaccinated or partially vaccinated, the requirements state they must complete a 14-day quarantine upon arrival back into the country.

Please also note, there are distinct implications for any participant that has been given a medical exemption from vaccination.
